DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-5, 9-14 and 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kaye. Kaye discloses a placemat having a major portion (cat body) and an extension portion (cat head); see the Figure. Since "a place setting" and "beverage container" as instantly claimed may be any size, the reference to place setting and extension sizes in the instant claims does not distinguish over the placemat with extension shown in Kaye. Concerning claims 9, 12 and 13, the terms "right" and "left" are relative terms which depend on the angle and position from which the place mat is viewed. Therefore, the cat's head in the article of Kaye may be considered on the upper right or left periphery of a major portion.

3. Claims 1-5, 9-15 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kamel et al. Kamel et al disclose a placemat having a major portion and an extension portion; see the Figures. Since "a place setting" and "beverage container" as instantly claimed may be any size, the reference to place setting and extension sizes in the instant claims does not distinguish over the placemat with extension shown in Kamel et al. Concerning claims 9, 12 and 13, the terms "right" and "left" are relative terms which depend on the angle and position from which the place mat is viewed.

Therefore, the extensions in the article of Kamel et al may be considered on the upper right or left periphery of a major portion.

4. Claims 1-5, 10, 12, 14 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Krass. Krass discloses a placemat having a major portion and an extension portion; see the Figure. Since "a place setting" and "beverage container" as instantly claimed may be any size, the reference to place setting and extension sizes in the instant claims does not distinguish over the placemat with extension shown in Krass. Concerning claims 9, 12 and 13, the terms "right" and "left" are relative terms which depend on the angle and position from which the place mat is viewed. Therefore, the coaster extension in the article of Krass may be considered on the upper right or left periphery of a major portion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over each of Kaye, Kamel et al or Krass. The primary references disclose the invention substantially as claimed; see the Figures. However they do not disclose the claimed size of the placemat. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to vary the size of the mats in the references to provide the desired protection coverage for a particular end use.
